

CRISIS WITHIN A CRISIS

When disasters strike, physical wounds are treated first, but invisible ones—like trauma, anxiety, and isolation—are often ignored, creating a silent mental health crisis.

THE SOLUTION: "SIGNAL BAND" SYSTEM

- Red band spotted → trained volunteers respond
- Confidential check-ins at safe zones
- Low-cost, scalable, and culturally neutral
- Partnerships with NGOs, government relief agencies
- A zero-tech, non-verbal communication tool restoring personal agency in chaotic, low-resource environments.

ACCESSIBILITY & PROTOCOL

A simple, color-coded wristband system:
Green Band = "I am stable / open to interaction"
Red Band = "I am overwhelmed / need space".
Silent, stigma-free, and universal—enabling immediate identification and support without verbal disclosure.

EMOTIONAL IMPACT & SCALABILITY

Empowers individuals to express vulnerability without shame. Builds trust within relief communities. Can be rapidly deployed globally—from floods to earthquakes to refugee crises—transforming mental health support infrastructure in disaster zones.
